

The Eastbourne-Pier

( Second class trip; day 3)

When I first saw the coast of Eastbourne, I wondered if the brown colour of the sea and the varying weather from beautiful to almost a heavy rain storm was normal for Eastbourne or if we just were at the wrong time and at the wrong place ? ( I mean the Pier is about 50 metres away from the pier)

Anyways me, Oscar, the teachers and all the other people of the class that did not, as the teachers planned to, do something with their hosts met at 11 a.m. by the Ratton school. Then we had a funny 45 min. walk to the pier, where we took a nice little rest at a café called “water front cafe bar”. ( They had great chips). Some people also went to the beach, until the bad weather front came. From that on the weather always switched from sunny to rainy and stormy. Because it was raining when the rest was over, we went to a small, but funny arcade at the pier. We all spent allot of money on playing, but only got a short amount back. ( At least I got a little plush toy from angry birds:) ). After about 30 minutes we had a short rally at coast. ( We had to take pictures of us at different places, and finally had to find the hat of Mr Prantner. A big blue hat with the English flag on it). After about 25 min. our team found the hat, and won the rally! Our plan was to go shopping then. We headed to the city Mall and ate, shopped and had lots of fun. After the shopping we went home by bus.

It was an amazing and exciting day with my class at the Pier and lots of other spots in Eastbourne. ;)
